

Center of Life and Food
Sciences Weihenstephan

The Institute of Forest Management invites to a presentation

by Joseph Buongiorno

www.forest.wisc.edu/facstaff/buongiorno.html

Joseph Buongiorno is professor at the University of Wisconsin, Madison. He holds a master in Forest Economics from SUNY Syracuse and a Ph.D. from the University of Berkley in Wildland Resource Science. Joseph gathered experience and awards in a broad field of forest science.

As his fields of interest are decision-making models, economic forecasting, development planning and international forestry, Joseph will give an introduction to “Long-term effects of eliminating illegal logging on the world of forest industries”

10:30, April 1st 2008,

HS 23, School of Forest Science and Resource Management

Center of Life and Food Sciences Weihenstephan

Am Hochanger 13, Freising

Member of the Center of Forestry
Weihenstephan

